

Smallco Investment Fund

Monthly Update

30 June 2013

Benefits of the Fund

The main benefit the manager aims to achieve is high compound returns by investing in the stock market.

Smallco invests mostly in smaller Australian listed companies, but may invest up to 20% of the fund in larger Australian listed companies and some cash. The fund sometimes effectively short sells and uses gearing.

Investment Style

Smallco actively looks for high quality, smaller companies whose share price is significantly less than what it considers to be the true underlying value of the shares. The manager actively manages the assets of the fund, selecting individual stocks with an emphasis on achieving growth in the value of the fund and also aiming to achieve some income.

Some characteristics of a quality, small company that the manager looks to identify include: high return on funds employed and cash generation ability, a strong board and good management team, strong competitive position and attractive earnings outlook.

In selecting shares to invest in, the manager typically focuses on a 3 year horizon, after which time it believes earnings forecasts become of considerably less value.

Investments can (and do) fall in value as well as rise. Generally speaking, the value which the market attributes to an investment will be a function of (amongst other things) the growth in the underlying earnings of that company. However, the manager believes that, in the short term, market values are often more representative of investor sentiment towards a company, rather than the true underlying value of the company's business.

Smallco's philosophy is that it is better to have a small number of good investments rather than a large number of mediocre investments. Accordingly, the fund will generally be relatively concentrated and the manager generally expects the number of stocks to be between 25 and 35.

Investors should look to invest for a period of at least 3 years.

Fund Manager

The manager of the fund is Smallco Investment Manager Limited, which was formed in April 2000. The manager was formed for the purpose of managing this fund.

The principals of the manager are Rob Hopkins and Bill Ryan, who combined have had over 30 years of experience in the Australian investment markets.
